DETAILED ACTION

1. The amendment of 29 February 2008 has been noted and made of record.
2. Claims 3-11 have been presented for examination.
3. Claims 1, 2, and 12-14 have been cancelled as per Applicant's request.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments, see pages 3 and 4, filed 29 February 2008, with respect to claims 3-7 have been fully considered and are persuasive. The prior art rejection of claims 3-7 has been withdrawn.
5. Applicant's arguments with respect to the prior art rejections of claims 8-11 filed 29 February 2008 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.
6. In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies, such as the cipher apparatus storing and displaying the secret code and telephone number of the portable terminal, are not recited in the rejected claims 8-11. Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).
7. See further rejections set forth below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.
9. Claims 8-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. Patent Application Publication No. 2002/0106202 A1 to Hunter, hereinafter Hunter, in view of U.S.

Patent Application Publication No. 2003/0008662 to Stern et al., hereinafter Stern, and in further view of U.S. Patent No. 7,079,656 B1 to Menzel et al., hereinafter Menzel.

10. As per claim 8, Hunter teaches method for releasing a locked state of a camera in a portable terminal by means of a cipher apparatus connected to the portable terminal, the portable terminal includes the camera for photographing an image, a memory for storing secret codes, an image processor for processing the photographed image, and a display unit for displaying the processed image, the method comprising the steps of:

(3) the portable terminal receiving data, and comparing the secret code received from the cipher apparatus with one of the secret codes stored in the memory (paragraphs 0013, 0023, 0037, i.e. comparing the received signal to memory or swiping the smart card); and

(4) enabling the camera to operate when the secret code matches said one of the secret codes stored in the memory (paragraphs 0013, 0023, 0037, i.e. re-enable the camera functions); and the apparatus transmitting data obtained from the secret code (paragraphs 0009, 0023, 0038).

11. Hunter does not teach enciphering the data, receiving information of the portable terminal, and obtaining a secret code for the locked state of the camera from a database.

12. Stern teaches receiving information regarding the mobile user device (paragraphs 0012, 0053) and finding a policy based on the device and location information in a database which is sent to the mobile device (Figures 3 [blocks 304, 306], 4 [blocks 800, 900], paragraphs 0053-0056, 0058, 0059).

13. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to receive information regarding the mobile device and obtaining a policy for the camera from a database, since Stern states at paragraph 0006 that it allows the system to establish a policy based on the location and user device information thereby allowing high priority users to receive phone calls in dire situations, such as a doctor receiving emergency phone calls (see Stern, paragraphs 0054-0055).

14. Stern does not teach wherein the portable device sends a secret code to the cipher apparatus and wherein the cipher apparatus produces enciphered data to be transmitted to the portable device.

15. Menzel teaches wherein a mobile device and a base station exchange public keys (drawn to the Applicant's claimed secret code) (column 2, lines 7-19, column 2, lines 48-58) and encrypting the data using the exchanged public keys in subsequent communications (column 2, lines 9-19, column 2, lines 51-58).

16. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made for a mobile device and a base station to exchange public keys and encrypt the data using the exchanged public keys in subsequent communications, since Menzel states at column 3, lines 3-29 that encrypted communications provide for secure communication between the devices, thereby preventing unauthorized users from intervening in the exchange of information.

17. Regarding claim 9, Hunter teaches enabling the image processor to operate (paragraphs 0013, 0023, 0037); and transmitting information reporting a released state of the camera to the cipher apparatus (paragraphs 0017, 0018).

18. Regarding claim 10, Hunter teaches wherein data is exchanged through a cable to release the locked state of the camera of the portable terminal (paragraph 0043, i.e. an electrical contact).

19. Regarding claim 11, Hunter teaches wherein data is exchanged wirelessly to release the locked state of the camera of the portable terminal (paragraph 0010, i.e. radio signals).

Allowable Subject Matter

20. Claims 3-7 are allowed.

21. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

As noted above the Examiner agrees with the Applicant's arguments regards claims 3-7, specifically that the prior art does not teach a cipher apparatus that stores and displays the secret code and a telephone number of a portable terminal after the camera on the portable terminal has been disabled.

22. A phone call was placed to Ms. Demetra Smith-Stewart on 03 April 2008 proposing an Examiner's amendment to cancel claims 8-11 and issue a Notice of Allowance for claims 3-7. That phone call was not returned.

23. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

24. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

25. The following patents are cited to further show the state of the art with respect to managing portable devices, such as:

United States Patent Application Publication No. 2003/0151669 A1 to Robins et al., which is cited to show remotely enabling/disabling an image capturing device.

United States Patent No. 7,340,214 B1 to Hamberg, which is cited to show tagging images taken with a camera phone.

United States Patent No. 6,982,747 B2 to Yamagishi, which is cited to show notifying a cellular phone the status of an image capturing device and vice versa.

26. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

27. A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
